

Aspect led MEC SESSION for Health

Typical hands-on scenarios covered are:

Get a head start

Effectively connect with co-workers; manage personal and work-related calendars, email, and documents from almost anywhere and virtually any device¹.

Stay Organized

Streamline your communications through intuitive apps that you can access directly from your favorite productivity tools with robust security.

Collaborate across teams

Experience rich collaboration and communication in high definition² that brings people together through a variety of new enterprise-ready social tools and empowers them to work together to make better business decisions.

Investigate Data

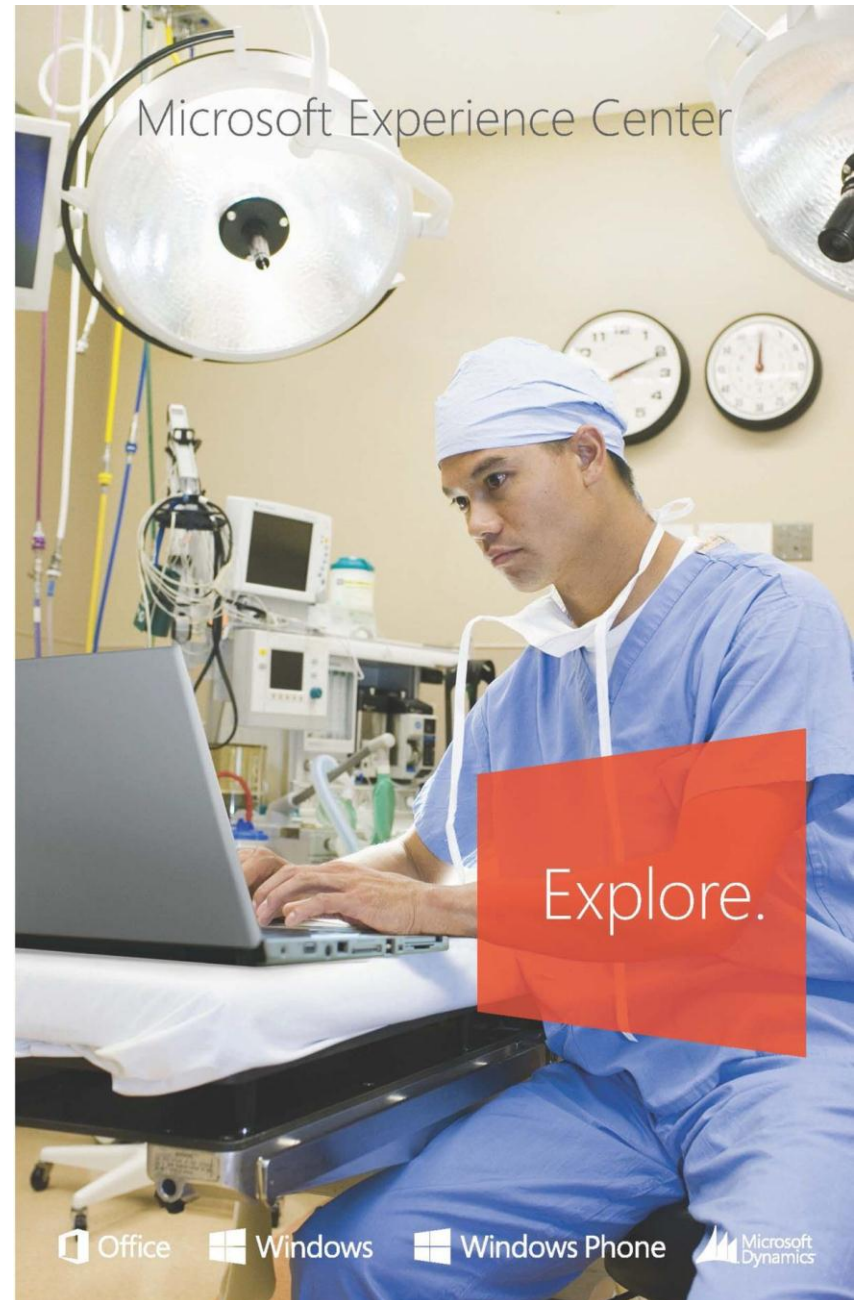

Analyze rich data sets to identify trends and performance and scale them across the patient management – all with current Microsoft technology.

Work from anywhere

Create and share content across boundaries and devices¹.

How to participate

Please contact your Aspect account representative or aspectmps@aspect.com to schedule a Microsoft Experience Center for Health session.

Experience what's in it for you.

In a Microsoft Experience Center (MEC) for Health session, IT stakeholders and key business groups can come together to see how the latest Microsoft solutions can drive greater productivity and innovation in an organization.

Why should you attend a MEC for Health session?

- 1) True to Life: A MEC for Health session is not a generic demo. It is a true-to-life user experience that takes you through common work-related scenarios. These include working remotely, leveraging social networking to locate expertise and share information, and connecting in real time with coworkers and customers.
- 2) Promotes communication: Participating in a MEC for Health session is a great way for IT departments and business groups to better understand the IT solutions they're using, which can lead to process improvements and an improved workplace environment.
- 3) Interactive and fun: Participating in a MEC for Health session is the best way to learn about business productivity tools and technologies without sales pressure. Sessions are led by a trained facilitator and are designed to be interactive, experiential, and fun.
- 4) About your business: A MEC for Health session will show you how real time clinical investigation, collaboration, and workflow across the care continuum can provide for improved care, better outcomes, and increased efficiency throughout your organization.

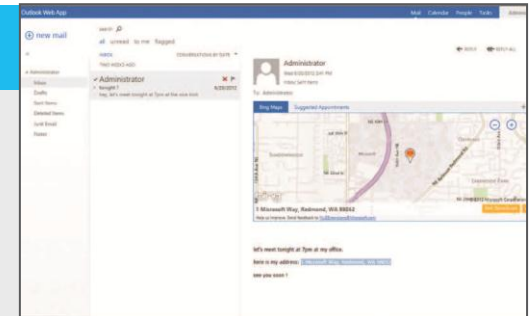

Devices

Explore a streamlined user experience across tablets, PCs and smartphones

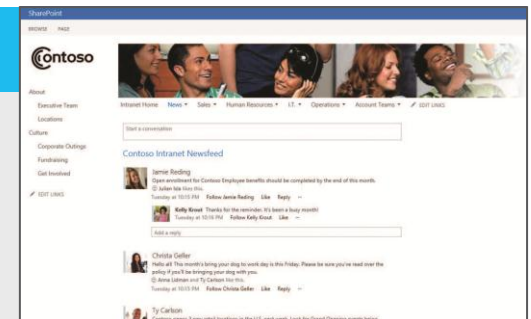

Cloud

Discover a personalized experience that goes where you go, with Office apps and anywhere access to documents

Social

Use social media to get work done using microblogs, newsfeeds, and the ability to follow people, shared documents and sites

Control

Learn how you can keep your organization safe by protecting sensitive information while meeting regulatory compliance requirements

